

Lula Dawson Bliley's
Family Album 2

Album 6. Lula Dawson Bliley Family Album 2 Scanned: August 29, 2015

Introduction

This large photo album was probably covered in leather and a really beautiful presentation. In 2015, the front cover is missing and the bones are exposed. The story inside is quite different. The album has alternating sets of plain and fancy pages decorated with full-color images of pansies on a background of gold leaf.

This is a “small” album only 25 photos filling of 32 frames. All photos are formal studio types of family members and a few friends on cards. Most photos are from a narrow range of the 1880s to 1890s during her teenage years. Most photos in this album have captions on the back or below the photo on the album frame.

After she married my grandfather, Frank Anderson Bliley, June 21, 1905, Lula constructed a much more elaborate black paper album with many more photos of all kinds and thoughtfully place them in rough chronological order and with detailed captions. This album is a photographic family tree and a real treasure.

While this album has fewer photos than the later one, there are still some handsome portraits that make this one worth viewing.
